EVERYBODY KNOWS THAT

M oral & More will sell all in their line, only aptives to please,

R ejecting large profits as wrong and unkind,

G rinding the poor by degrees,

A nd taking from them, without value received,

N life ends in teat of their cash,

so now, 'midst the dust the banks have upheaved,

M oney must wind off the earth;

O r for a few of those bright glittering dimes,

M oly to keep our poes,

R ent must be paid in these pinching hard times,

E ven if we sell under cost.

S ell low, therefore, we must and we do,

E very article of trade,

L iving ourselves "let others live too,"

L et our motto be we made,

W ill sell them as low as prices can be.
